TIPON, Libya—A day after American and European militaries intensified their barrage of airstrikes against Muammar Gaddafi's forces by air and sea, the allies were to pump up Monday to commemorate the day that British forces had been killed.

The third campaign on Monday proved beyond promising the 12-year-old boy to breaking Gorbachev's hold on the ground, but by

Military's Bayanihan has new head

THE ARMED Forces of the Philippines has a new chief for civil military operations, three months into the implementation of a new four-branch emergency plan, Bayanihan, which gives equal importance to community projects in "winning the peace."

Navy Commodore Miguel Jose Rodriguez, assumed office as deputy chief of staff for civil military operations (CMT) on Friday, the AFP announced over the weekend.

Rodriguez replaced Army Brig. Gen. Romeo Barde Jr. who was named Philippine Military Academy (PMA) superintendent following the retirement of Vice Admiral Cesar Calles on March 11.

A member of PMA Class 1966, Rodriguez was commander of the Fleet Marine Ready Force, before being appointed CMT.

"CMT (civil military operations) is a new concept, so we are looking for someone who can bring in the necessary resources," he said.

He described Barde as his mentor with whom he worked in the command structure of the Battle of Marikina.

Rodriguez said the Filipino tradition of bayanihan or community spirit, "is what civil military operations is about."

Rodriguez had served as assistant chief of staff for CMT for the AFP Western Command (Mawcom) and chief of the evaluation and research branch of the Office of the Secretary of the AFP Joint Staff. (News Photo)

THE REMAINS of three Filipinos who perished in the 7.2 magnitude earthquake that hit Christchurch, New Zealand, on Feb. 23, had yet to be found according to the Philippine Embassy in Wellington.

In a report to the home office, the embassy described the missing Philippine nationals as Juan (Lloyd) Solarte, Eric (Rico) Solarte and Elmer (Mae) Solarte.

Earlier, New Zealand authorities said the remains of the following Filipinos had been identified by relatives: Joseph Francisco, 58, a nurse, by Anne Galambos; Sherry Lumbao, 40, a nurse, by John Lumbao; and Elmer Solarte, 40, a nurse, by Anne Solarte.

The remains of Francisco and Juan, at Christchurch, at the Holy Family Cemetery, were buried on March 27.

Columbino's remains were flown to Manila on Sunday according to the Department of Foreign Affairs (DFA) and the Overseas Workers Welfare Administration.

Meanwhile, a two-man team from the embassy in Wellington is facilitating the repatriation of the remains of Francisco, Juan, Solarte, and Elmer.

Their bodies were among those recovered from the Christchurch earthquake, which is second Christchurch, where a large number of foreign residents, including Filipinos, Chinese, Japanese and others, perished during the quake.

The earthquake killed nearly 500 people dead.

Antitrafficking drive gets P25M more from Palace

STRIPPING the need to increase the government's drive against human trafficking, the Philippine government has ordered the release of an additional P25 million to the Anti-Trafficking Council.

The Palace approved the addition to the agency's budget after last year's accomplishments in the fight against human trafficking.

The government earlier allocated P25 million to last year, which was created in 2003, on the Republic Act No. 10368, otherwise known as the Anti-Trafficking in Persons Act.

Last year, the departments of Justice, Social Welfare and Development, Foreign Affairs, Labor and Employment, the Bureau of Immigration, Philippine Overseas Employment Administration and the Commission on Filipinos Overseas, among others.

As a result, the government has directed local authorities to "work closely" with each other to combat trafficking.

It's expected that the government will strengthen the campaign against human trafficking. The agencies gave the President their commitment to meet their targets, they said.

In its report to the President, last released last May 2009 to March 2011, "commitments for trafficking in persons included 21, representing 31.3 percent of the total number of convictions between 2001 and 2011."

THE RH BILL IS ONE THAT YOU'LL PAY FOR WITH YOUR LIFE.

Reject the RH bill now and say no to the killing of the unborn, corruption, promiscuity, moral degradation and other horrific scenarios.

Take action. Honor life by attending these events:

March 23, 9:00 AM, at the Manila Cathedral,
- Mass in support of the Gift of Family and Life,
to be officiated by
His Eminence, Gaudencio Cardinal Rosales, together with the Philippine Bishops

March 25, 5:00 PM, at the Quirino Grandstand
- Inter-Faith Rally and Mass with the theme :
"Filipinos, Unite! Under God, for Life!"
to be led by
His Eminence Gaudencio Cardinal Rosales.
(Bring crosses, candles and other tags)

On March 25, there will be simultaneous "Prayer Rallies for Life" (Feast of the Incarnation of Christ) in the Dioceses of Mindanao, against the RH Bill.

Now's the time to unite for the family.

SO THE PUBLIC MAY KNOW

We assure our depositors and creditors that they should get back all their money because Banco Filipino is not insolvent. The Bank has questioned the action of the Monetary Board for immediately placing it under receivership because if the MB had the interest of the depositors in mind, it should have attended to the relatively small immediate financial support needed by the bank and proceeded with the implementation of the business plan which is approved for Banco Filipino last December 2009 and which the bank had accepted.

The Monetary Board had no basis for its action which caused the heavy withdrawals. The bank had enough collaterals to cover the bank's immediate requirement and the situation should not have magnified. It must be emphasized that when the MB approved the business plan, It confirmed that Banco Filipino is not insolvent and can operate with safety to its depositors and creditors.

Banco Filipino has an inventory of valuable real estate properties which were required thru foreclosures from way back in the 1980's. These properties are coveted by many groups. Among its prime properties are: 84 hectares in Daang Hari; 78 hectares in Quezon City; 102 hectares in San Jose del Monte/Norzagaray areas; 42 hectares in Naga City; 38 hectares Pagudpod Beach, Ilocos Norte; and properties in Las Piñas and Parañaque These assets have an aggregate value of at least P 30 Billion. Total deposits are only P 15 Billion.

Moreover, Banco Filipino has a damage claim against CB/BSP and the Monetary Board originally set at P 18.8 Billion.

The Monetary Board and the BSP are fully aware of the valuable assets held by the bank which are worth much more than liabilities. All loans originated by the bank are fully secured by real estate properties, aggregate values of which are much more than now that at the time the loans were made.

Since the bank re-opened in 1994, the MB installed a BSP designated Comptroller who "passed upon" all transactions of the Bank and who was required to report directly to the MB any violations of laws, rules and regulations. Banco Filipino was never sanctioned for any unsafe and unsound banking practice.

Banco Filipino is optimistic that the truth about the bank's financial status will come out and there is no basis for BSP to order its closure and place the bank under PDIC receivership.

Yemen leader abandoned by own tribe

MANAA, Yemen—The United States-backed political leader of Yemen suffered a devastating political blow when his own powerful tribe demanded his resignation, joining religious leaders, young people and the country's traditional opposition in calls for an end to his three decades in power.

Muhammad (now) forced tribes and even some of the most influential and powerful tribes to join him, promising to grant them autonomy in return for their support. But when the tribes demanded his resignation, he was left with no choice but to step down.

He had appeared to be on the verge of a comeback, but his own tribe, the Hashid, turned against him, demanding his resignation. He was forced to flee the country and seek refuge in Saudi Arabia.
